Dual careers - A corporate issue

International companies and organisations need skilled, mobile staff to support global operations

- Numbers are small, but essential
- More women in employment
- More dual career couples / dual earners
- Diversity - more nationalities, non-married, same-sex partners

For 78% of partners, their own employment prospects are an important factor in the decision to relocate

Affects men and women of all nationalities working in private and public sectors worldwide

Challenges for mobile partners who want to work

- Look for a new job in unfamiliar location
- Timing dictated by employee's move
- Adapt skills to local employment market
- Learn language, different culture etc.
- Compete with well qualified local staff
- Foreign diplomas recognised?
- Persuade potential employer to apply for work permit and wait until obtained...

Work permit procedures and uncertainty

– a structural hurdle for partner and employer

Permits Foundation's evidence base:

Regular surveys on mobility and dual careers

Most recent:

- International Dual Careers Survey Report 2022
Feedback from global mobility professionals and partners of international employees (global).

Previous surveys:

- | | |
|--|------|
| • HR Managers views on the impact of Brexit (UK) | 2018 |
| • Employees/partners on Tier 2 visas (UK) | 2015 |
| • Organisations employing 7.5 million employees (global) | 2012 |
| • Expat partners private and public sector (global) | 2008 |

Key messages from surveys:

*Key messages for governments

- Work permit restrictions have a negative impact on international business.
- Work permit restrictions for partners seriously impact employees' willingness to transfer.
- Countries that allow partners to work are more attractive destinations for international business and highly skilled staff.
- Allowing partners to work has positive economic and social impacts.

*Key messages for employers

- Lack of partner employment opportunities adversely affects global mobility of highly skilled international employees.
- Dual careers are becoming more important.
- Communicating with the mobile family unit is key.
- Employers should do more to support.

Accompanying partners – key data 2022

- 76% of partner respondents - female (85% in 2008).
- 88% of partner respondents held a bachelor's degree or higher including 53% with a master's degree.

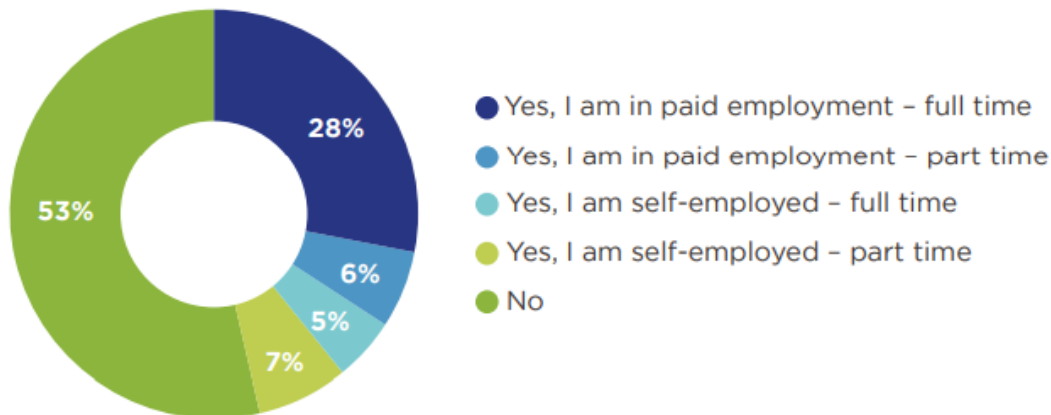

In which occupational field were you working?

(Permits Foundation International Dual Careers Survey Report 2022 – Part 2)

Partner employment falls in host country

- 90% of spouses were working before expatriation.
- 53% were not employed in the host country.
- 84% of those not working wanted to work.

Respondents in employment or self-employment in host country:

Talent attraction and retention

- 26% of partner respondents were considering leaving the host country due to work access restrictions.
- In 44% of organisations, employees had returned home early from an international assignment in the past 3 years due to concerns about the partner's employment.
- In over 50% of organisations employees had turned down an international assignment because of concerns about the partner's employment.

Diversity, Equity and Inclusion

- 94% of global mobility professionals said that family members should be authorised to work in the host country directly upon recognition of their dependant status.
- 78% of global mobility professionals said that where partners can work, the effectiveness of the organisation's overall diversity, equity and inclusion policy increases.
- 22% of HR respondents said that the importance of supporting dual careers in the global workplace did not feature at all in their organisation's DE&I materials.

Which family members of an international employee should be authorised to work in the host country directly upon recognition of their dependant status?

(Permits Foundation International Dual Careers Survey Report 2022 – Part 1)

Health and Integration

- Partners of international employees who were not working were more likely to report a negative impact on their adjustment to the host country, family relationships, general health or well-being.
- 56% of partner respondents said that not working had negatively impacted their mental health.
- 67% of partners cited the need for a dual-income as important or very important.

Remote/virtual working

- 60% of global mobility professional respondents had been asked by international employees about the right of their partner to work virtually.
- 30% of partner respondents said they would like to work remotely for an employer based in another country.

Highlights

Over 35 countries now allow spouses or partners to work for any employer or be self-employed

European Union

In EU Member States family members may work freely under EU Blue Card, EU intra-company transfer Directives - and under some national schemes.

- Partner recognition growing. Children of working age allowed to work too.
- Belgium & Ireland (CSEP Holders) adopt best practice in 2019. Luxembourg 2023.

USA

Spouses of intra-company transferees & treaty traders (L/E visas) authorised work incident to dependant status from Nov 2021. Proposal to rescind H4 EAD withdrawn in January 2021. Court case concludes in favour of H4 EAD in 2023.

- Litigation results in much needed processing improvements through 2023.
- Same-sex marriage recognised; unmarried partners not yet recognised.

India

Spouses of employees on intra-company transfer can apply locally for E visa. Permits Foundation supported proposal for a specific ICT visa - implemented in 2018. Lobby on-going for ICT spouse direct work authorisation.

S. America

Government decree in 2016 enables partners of temporary work visa holders to work in Brazil. In subsequent years Peru (2017) and Chile (2022) adopt best practice.

Canada

From January 2023, (for next 2 years) eligibility to work in Canada extended to spouses, partners and working-age children of workers at all skill levels.

Singapore

From 2023, One Pass visa allows spouses to work via Letter of Consent route but restrictions remain for other work categories.

PERMITS
foundation

Best practice model:

Spouse/partner has 'open' permission to work

Advantages

- Full access to employment market once resident visa or permit is issued.
- Facilitates temporary project work, self-employment.
- Reduced bureaucracy for the authorities.
- Helps employers fill urgent or temporary vacancies.
- Attractive destination for mobile families.
- Attractive investment climate for employers with highly skilled international staff.

Permits strategy

- Provide evidence, promote best practice, build on examples of success
- International organisation with impressive sponsor support base and local networks
- Show the global perspective
- Seek opportunity for change e.g. where immigration policy is in review
- Focus on countries that are:
 - important to business/international organisations
 - role models/trend setters in their region

WELCOME TO PERMITS FOUNDATION

We are an independent, not-for-profit organisation campaigning globally to improve work permit regulations so that partners of international employees may directly access employment while in the country.

Since our start-up in 2001, we have been progressively successful in influencing change throughout European Union, as well as in the USA, Asia (India, Japan, Hong Kong) and Latin America (Brazil and Peru). Over 30 countries now allow accompanying spouses or partners to work. We continue to promote best practice and monitor legislative improvements in all these countries, as well as setting up new projects (for example, in South Africa and China) in our global campaign.

Our surveys show that governments that allow partners to work attract highly skilled employees associated with international business, investment and development; creating a 'triple win' for host countries, employers and families alike.

HOST COUNTRIES:
"Family members should be allowed to work throughout the assignment. This will make the EU more attractive to highly skilled foreign workers and improve equality in our society."

EMPLOYERS:
"Convincing governments to relax work permit regulations for partners will help to attract the best international employees. That's good for families, good for business and good for host countries."

FAMILIES:
"It's important to have choice to work. Even if I decided to focus on my spouse's career, it is very important for us not to neglect my own career."
